MARCH 2020

NOTES & NEWS

Springing Into the Season

With their trumpet-shaped blooms, daffodils announce the arrival of spring. The bright yellow and white flowers are one of the season's first and among the few plants that can grow through the snow. According to a Welsh legend, if you see the first daffodil, your year ahead will be filled with wealth.

Welcoming Spring

The vernal equinox, which marks the beginning of spring in the Northern Hemisphere, occurs on March 19. On this day, the sun is directly over the equator, so day and night all over the world are of equal length.

Easy Organization: Disappearing Clutter

Use a decorative photo storage box as an inbox for all of the papers that come into your home, such as mail, receipts and invitations. Empty the box and sort through the pile once a week. The best part? If a guest stops by, you can just pop on the lid to hide the paper clutter.

SPRING EQUINOX

The Spring Equinox will be on Thursday, March 19 at 11:50pm. The word equinox comes from the Latin words for "equal night." On the March Equinox, the sun crosses the celestial equator from south to north. It's called the "celestial equator" because it's an imaginary line in the sky above the Earth's equator. After the Spring Equinox, the Northern Hemisphere tilts toward the sun, which is why we start to get longer, sunnier days.

BULLETIN BOARD

March Madness

The 82nd annual NCAA Tournament is set to begin March 17. A total of 68 teams will hit the hardwood to compete for the men's college basketball championship next month.

A Posture Plus

Good posture has many health benefits, including better breathing. Doctors say slouching compresses the lungs, making it difficult to take deep breaths, which can lead to fatigue.

Make Up Your Mind in the Morning

When you're faced with an important decision, try tackling it before noon. Science says the morning hours are the best time of day to make a choice. Researchers came to this conclusion after analyzing the moves chess players made in a series of matches. The players made slower, more accurate moves in the morning, and as the day wore on, their decisions were faster, but those moves were more prone to errors.

TRIVIA WHIZ

Count On It

Every 10 years, the U.S. Census Bureau sets out to count every person living in the United States. Most households will receive their 2020 census letters by mid-March, and the official National Census Day is April 1.

- The 2020 census will count the population in all 50 states, the District of Columbia, and five U.S. territories.
- Census data determines the number of seats each state has in the U.S. House of Representatives, as well as how many Electoral College votes each state gets.
- The census results also guide how federal funding is distributed for schools, roads, hospitals and other public services.
- The Constitution mandates the census, and 2020 marks the 24th time that the country has counted its population since 1790.
- This is the first U.S. census that offers the options to respond online or by phone. In the past, responses could only be made by filling out a paper form.
- To help with the count, about half a million people are hired as temporary census workers.
- Census workers will visit homes in remote areas, such as rural Alaska, to gather information in person. People in the rest of the country who do not respond by early April may receive visits from workers who will conduct interviews and collect responses using smartphones.
- The country's population is projected to be 333,546,000 this year, an 8% increase from 2010.

Load Up on Lemons

Lemons make a pretty garnish and can brighten the flavors of foods, but they also have many other uses thanks to their natural antibacterial, deodorizing and bleaching properties. When life gives you lemons, put them to work around your home.

Some cut fruits, such as apples, pears and avocados, start turning brown after they're exposed to air. You can slow this natural oxidation process by squeezing lemon juice over the fruit's flesh.

Disinfect and deodorize wooden cutting boards and utensils by rubbing a cut lemon over the surface. Let the wood absorb the juice; when dry, wipe with a clean, damp cloth.

Clean your microwave oven by adding 1/4 cup of lemon juice to 2 cups of water in a microwaveable glass container. Microwave on high for about five minutes. Wait another five minutes, then remove the container and wipe away the loosened grime and grease. This also works using sliced lemons in a bowl of water.

Lemon juice is a natural bleaching agent. When washing a load of white laundry, add 1 cup of lemon juice along with your regular detergent. As a result, your whites will both be bright and smell citrus-fresh.

Bright yellow lemons are available year-round and can perk up a table or countertop. Toss a bunch in a bowl for a simple and sunny centerpiece.

Give It a Whirl

The Lazy Susan, a spinning base with an attached platter, may seem old school, but it's a smart and simple organizing tool. A variety of styles are available from retailers, and you can often find them at yard sales and thrift stores. Here's how to spin your way to an orderly and more accessible household.

On the table. To use as originally intended, add a Lazy Susan to your dinner table for serving condiments, sugar, butter, and salt and pepper.

In the cupboard. Organize canned goods and spices so you can easily see and grab what you need.

In the fridge. Store bottles and jars on a small Lazy Susan and just spin the tray to find items such as pickles, jelly, salad dressing, horseradish and soy sauce.

On the kitchen counter. Use one to corral cooking utensils, spices and oils, so that often-used items can stay close at hand.

In the bathroom. A Lazy Susan on the counter can hold cotton balls, lotion, shaving cream and hand soap. A rotating tray under the sink is a good place for cleaning supplies and extra toiletries such as shampoo and conditioner.

For kids and crafters. Organize markers, crayons, paints and other crafting supplies atop a Lazy Susan to keep everything in easy reach.

WIT & WISDOM

Global Ways To Get Happy

Many things affect our well-being, from the way we decorate our home to the people we choose to spend time with. Cultures across the globe have various approaches to creating happiness in everyday life.

Hygge. This Danish concept, which focuses on coziness and comfort, has become a worldwide lifestyle trend. Soft blankets, warm beverages and simple pleasures, such as reading, can create hygge in your daily routine.

Lagom. Sometimes called the Goldilocks principle, this Swedish philosophy is about balance and determining what's "just right" for you. For example, eating until you feel full, but not stuffed, is practicing lagom, as is finding a happy medium between a cluttered or a sparsely decorated home.

Wabi-sabi. The ancient Japanese concept of wabi-sabi celebrates life's imperfections by embracing the beauty in broken or worn objects, as well as one's personal flaws. This idea can be seen in kintsugi, the art of filling cracks in broken pottery with gold to make them part of the item's appeal.

Gezellig. At the heart of Dutch culture, gezellig can be loosely translated as the enjoyable things in life. Being social is a key element, since anything can be considered gezellig—even something unpleasant, such as waiting in a long line—if you're with a friend.

Meraki. In Greece, meraki means to take pleasure and pride in a task, whether big or small.

One Minute Chef

Fresh Berry Salad With Poppy Seed Dressing

Dressing Ingredients:

- 3/4 cup apple cider vinegar
- 3/4 cup lemon juice
- 1/4 cup Dijon mustard
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon kosher salt
- 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 tablespoon poppy seeds
- 1 2/3 cups canola oil

Salad Ingredients:

- 6 cups spinach
- 2 cups romaine lettuce
- 3/4 cup sliced fresh strawberries
- 1/3 cup fresh blueberries
- 1/3 cup feta cheese
- 1/3 cup walnuts
- 2 tablespoons chopped scallions
- 1/3 cup canned mandarin oranges, drained
- 1/2 avocado, diced

Directions:

In blender, combine apple cider vinegar, lemon juice, Dijon mustard, sugar, salt, pepper and poppy seeds. Blend 1 minute, or until smooth. Slowly add in canola oil and continue to blend until oil is fully emulsified. Set dressing aside.

In large bowl, combine all salad ingredients with dressing. Toss thoroughly.
