What is Pi Day?

- March 14 marks Pi Day, an annual celebration of the mathematical sign, pi. Founded in 1988 by physicist, Larry Shaw, March 14 was selected because the numerical date (3.14) represents the first three digits of pi, and it also happens to be Albert Einstein's birthday.

How are we celebrating?

Mad for March Madness

From bragging rights to heartbreaking busted brackets, college hoops will be the center of many discussions this month as the NCAA Division I basketball tournament gets underway. Here's some March Madness trivia to add to your tourney talk:

- The tournament debuted in 1939. Only eight teams competed, with Oregon defeating Ohio State.
- The phrase "March Madness" was first used to describe the tournament in 1982, by sportscaster Brent Musburger.
- Predicting the winner of each game by filling out a bracket is popular, even for folks who don't usually watch basketball. Over 35 million people participate in the activity every March.
- The odds of filling out a perfect bracket—that is, correctly picking the winner of every game—is 1 in 9.2 quintillion. One quintillion is a 1 followed by 18 zeroes, or you could think of it as "a million trillion"!
- Each team is ranked, or seeded, within its region. In 1985, the No. 8-ranked Villanova Wildcats became the lowest-seeded team to win the tournament.
- Only once did all conference No. 1 seeds advance to the Final Four. In 2008, the Kansas Jayhawks won what many called the most predictable March Madness ever.
- Another first-and-only occurred in 2018, when a No. 16-seeded school (Maryland-Baltimore County) defeated a No. 1 seed (Virginia) in the opening round.
- UCLA has won the tournament 11 times, more than any other school.

What's Cooking

Fish With Bok Choy and Rice

Light and flavorful, this meal comes together in minutes.

Ingredients:

- 1 fillet of white fish, such as tilapia, cod or halibut
- Salt and pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter
- 1 teaspoon sesame oil
- 1 teaspoon grated ginger
- 2 baby bok choy, quartered
- 1 teaspoon soy sauce
- 1 cup cooked brown rice

Directions:

Use a paper towel to pat dry each side of the fish fillet. Season both sides with salt and pepper.

In a medium skillet, melt butter over medium-high heat. Add fish and cook for 2 minutes on each side. Remove fish from pan and keep warm.

In the same pan, add sesame oil and ginger. Cook for 1 minute.

Add bok choy to pan and stir-fry for 2 minutes. Add soy sauce and stir to incorporate.

Immediately serve fish over the cooked bok choy and warmed rice.
